

Acrylic Painting One Day Workshop with Peter John Reid

189 Stone Hill Road is pleased to offer one day acrylic painting workshops with Peter John Reid. You will learn how to turn a nice photo and blank canvas into a painting that is all you. This hands-on workshop begins with the approaches and decisions that allow you to compose a plan uniquely your own. From there, colour, brush and paint techniques will be demonstrated, and how they can (and will) support what you want to bring to your painting. The morning is dedicated to techniques, discussions, exploration and practice. The afternoon is filled with working on your individual canvas and applying what was learned to your personal work under the watchful eye of a seasoned professional.

Instructor Peter John Reid is a contemporary painter exhibiting in several galleries throughout Ontario. An exceptional and often-sought educator, Peter's classes are packed with information, inspiration and laughs that will leave you enriched by the end of the class. His definitive book on painting will be available for sale for $35. It is recommended that you bring a copy if you already have one. Please also bring the recommended materials on the materials list.
